Break

Information on 2016 Fall Classic-Venue-Jerry Strain: Agua Caliente and Indian Canyon price sheet distributed. It was determined to be too expensive to play these courses. Trying to find a decent price for hotel and golf course is a challenge. Coyote Creek venue in San Jose area, San Diego, Monterey and Brentwood were discussed as possible venues. It was decided to look into Santa Barbara. Jerry Strain will investigate Santa Barbara. Bill Wilhelm will talk to ILT for their requirements and other venues associated with this organization.

Napa Report-Bill Wilhelm analysis: Positive feedback. Current process for this tournament is working.

Reno Report

There was some discussion about the registration process. When people check in at the desk it is important to make sure they are reminded to go upstairs to register. Jerry Strain distributed survey results. It shows that people like the Reno Tournament format. The process of awarding winners was discussed. During the first week prizes were handed out to first place only, the other winners picked up their prize at a table. Participant feedback indicated they liked that format. The second week feedback revealed the participants liked getting the prizes handed out to all winners. This event used to be a three week event but participation began to decline. We have too many people participating to do the event in one week. So next year we need to continue with the two week format and will continue to evaluate after the completion of the event next year.

Whitney Oaks-Jerry Strain, John Boyer

Current status: The challenge for this venue is lack of knowledge by potential participants about the event taking place. Enrollment is low we need to continue to promote the event.
